This person will be in charge of applications and will need to ensure that all the Pearson examination regulations are followed.

HIPPO 2018 Online Applications

Upon venue approval, all schools will receive login details for Hippo Online Platform (<http://soa.hippo-competition.org>) where they will register the candidates by entering the required details. The system/database will be open until 3 February 2018 for all amendments. After the application end date, no further amendments can be made. The system will automatically assign candidate numbers to applicants. The lists of candidates will remain available for printing the Preliminary Round attendance lists.

3. Definitions of Hippo Competition Zones

The competition will be divided into competition areas (hereinafter zones). The number of zones will depend on the number of participants.

The International HIPPO Board in consultation with the Local Organisers will decide on the final number of zones after the applications are finished, all in accordance with the regulations.

-Different zones have separate and independent governments or education systems, with independent Ministries of Education, or potential funding bodies which treat those different zones separately.

-Different zones have a historical, linguistic divergence.

Based on the number and location of the participants in previous Hippo years, the preset zones have been established.

In order to assign a new zone, the minimum number of applied candidates per category must be 90.

In case of unexpectedly high number of applicants, zones can be further divided into two or more smaller zones.

Also, in case of small number of participants in certain Hippo categories in established zones, the zone with a small number of participants in a specific hippo category will be merged with the nearest zone.
